

INTERVIEW

Kehinde: Good day, great people out there. You're welcome to the Kenny Top Stars Show. Today we have another guest on the show. Please welcome Mrs Teresa Olukorede.

Teresa: Thank you. I'm glad to be here.

Kehinde: Thank you for accepting my invitation. Please tell us a little about yourself.

Teresa: My name is Teresa Olukorede. I am a P. E. teacher at Agbowo International School. I am an introvert. I love swimming and reading.

Kehinde: First question. What are you good at?

Teresa: I'm good at writing stories and poems, creating puzzles, solving math, and dancing.

Kehinde: Second question. Who loves you?

Teresa: A lot of people love me. My family loves me. My friends at work love me. My friends in church love me.

Kehinde: What do people like, admire about you?

Teresa: People like the fact that I am hardworking; I'm committed to what I believe in; I write good stories; and I can be empathetic.

Kehinde: That's nice. What have you been successful at?

Teresa: Well, I'm a published author. I coordinate a few groups in my church. I've won medals in swimming when I was in school.

Kehinde: That's nice. What final words do you have for the viewers?

Teresa: What I have to say is that we all need to have good self-esteem. Self-esteem is confidence in our own worth. Every one of us is special. Don't see yourself as inferior to someone else. Your best friend might be one of the best violinists in town and you don't seem to have a musical talent. What about the ability you have to make your classmates laugh. There are things that you are good at that make you feel good and that make others want to be your friend. There are people who love you just as you are. Think about it. Who knows, maybe you'll be the next guest on this show.

Kehinde: Thank you for coming on the show today. To all my viewers, see you next week.
